

RS#7 Miriam, Sarah, Bob, Abe

Start → ABE. (Looking in the Haggadah.) Next ... The Four Questions. Who does the Four Questions?

MIRIAM. Sarah.

SARAH. Can we skip the Four Questions?

ABE. Skip the Four Questions.

MIRIAM. Do the Four Questions.

ABE. Do the Four Questions.

SARAH. Daniel did the Four Questions last night. I'm too old to do the Four Questions.

MIRIAM. Excuse me, Miss Grown-up. (To Bob.) David, when Sarah was a little girl, she loved to do the Four Questions.

SARAH. Mother ...

MIRIAM. Even when she was so little she couldn't say the words. But she knew it was something important. She always wanted to be so helpful. We'd tell her to do the Four Questions and she'd sing "Happy Birthday" instead.

BOB. That's a great story.

SARAH. Don't encourage her. She'll bring out baby pictures.

BOB. That's what we Jews do. We hope."

MIRIAM. (Clutching her chest with emotion.) Oh!

SARAH. That's beautiful.

ABE. That's a beautiful story.

MIRIAM. So beautiful. You know, I heard a story just like that on the radio today.

BOB. (Incredulous.) No!

MIRIAM. David, will you do the Four Questions?

BOB. Uh ... All right.

SARAH. No! I'll do it.

BOB. I'll do it, Sweetheart.

MIRIAM. Do it together?
